

Boost your business with accredited systems

CARIX®

As the focus on environmental, social and governance issues in business gains momentum, supply chain visibility is evermore important.

Companies want to know that their suppliers have sustainable environmental, labour and human rights, and ethical practices.

Sometimes having appropriate accreditation can be the difference between securing a contract, landing a sale, or avoiding a penalty.

However, despite their best intentions, many small-to-medium businesses are without the necessary accreditations to boost their business.

We can help you get accredited and gain a competitive advantage for your business.

Carix helps businesses gain accreditation through providing the following support:

- Researching relevant accreditations and standards
- Identifying and liaising with suitable audit firms

- Working with businesses to gather documentation

- Sorting, compiling, analysing, reviewing and updating documents
- Undertaking gap analyses
- Helping record undocumented processes, policies etc

- Attending audits
- Assisting with post-audit follow ups and responses

What's preventing you from getting accredited?

- Limited time
- Lack of a dedicated staff member
- Don't know where to start
- Inexperience – never done it before!

How we work with you

Carix supports businesses in gaining accreditation by:
